1938-Class History

In the year 1934, early in September, there set sail over the Sea of Knowledge a magnificent fleet proudly bearing a lofty floating banners of red and white. Our destination was the Land of Graduation, but there were four stops to be made before reaching there. These were: Freshman, Sophomore, or land of wise fools, Junior, and Senior, or land of the Owls.

As Freshman we were welcomed with the regular initiation and in due time came the Supreme Court. Although scared, the "victims of the Court" took it on the "chin" and survived.

Upon reaching the Land of Wise Fools we took on our captian, Miss Emma Woods, who piloted us through the next three years. Nothing very exciting happened this year and so we sailed on to our Junior Year.

In this year, Football was brought back to Cradock under the able coaching of Mr. Story, and enthusiasm ran high. The Home Economics Cottage was also added. On May 21, 1937 we entertained the Seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Prom, which was enjoyed by all. This year was mostly devoted to preparing ourselves for the stormy seas we must cross to reach our destination.

On September 15, 1937 we set sail on the last lap of our voyage. For our captain's officers we selected Miss Pettus as assistant sponsor, Gertrude Hottley, President, Elizabeth Lewis, Vice president, Maurine McElveen, Secretary, Cecil Kirkman, Treasurer.

Our first activity was the Supreme Court at which time the Freshman received their just punishments.

On March 25, 1938 we presented our class play, "Taking the Count", which was enjoyed by a large audience.

At the first of the year the class decided to publish an annual to which the staff has devoted much time and which we are sure is to be a success.

April 29th was the occasion of a delightful buffet supper enjoyed by the Seniors and given by six members of the class.

Everyone is looking forward to a delightful time at the Junior and Senior Prom, on May 20th.

We are now about to become pilots of our own ships and the experience of being led by such an able captain will help us.

Class Poem

Life

Out of the darkness, under the sky, Blown by the night wind sweeping on high.

Torn by the tempest, washed by the rain,

Striving to conquer — but all in vain.

God is our Keeper — He only can give

The strength to withstand all — the courage to live.
